BY THE COMMISSION: The integrated resource planning (IRP) process is intended to identify those electric resource options that can be obtained at least cost to the ratepayers consistent with adequate, reliable electric service. IRP considers conservation, efficiency and load management, as well as supply-side alternatives, in the selection of resource options.

Commission Rule R8-60 defines an overall framework within which the IRP process takes place in North Carolina. Analysis of the long-range need for future electric generating capacity pursuant to G.S. 62-110.1 is included in the Rule as a part of the IRP process.

INTRODUCTION

Several General Statutes and Commission Rules guide the Commission's review of the electric utilities' planning process. G.S. 62-110.1(c) requires the Commission to "develop, publicize, and keep current an analysis of the long-range needs" for electricity in this State. The Commission's analysis should include: (1) its estimate of the probable future growth of the use of electricity; (2) the probable needed generating reserves; (3) the extent, size, mix, and general location of generating plants; and (4) arrangements for pooling power to the extent not regulated by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). G.S. 62-110.1 further requires the Commission to consider this analysis in acting upon any petition for construction. In addition, G.S. 62-110.1 requires the Commission to submit annually to the Governor and to the appropriate committees of the General Assembly the following: (1) a report of the Commission's analysis and plan for the future requirements of electricity for North Carolina; (2) the progress to date in carrying out such plan; and (3) the program of the Commission for the ensuing year in connection with such plan. G.S. 62-15(d) requires the Public Staff-North Carolina Utilities Commission (Public Staff) to assist the Commission in this analysis and plan.

In addition, G.S. 62-2(a)(3a) vests the Commission with the duty to regulate public utilities and their expansion in relation to long-term energy conservation and management policies. These policies include assuring that "resources necessary to meet future growth through the provision of adequate, reliable utility service include use of the entire spectrum of demand-side options, including but not limited to conservation, load management and efficiency programs, as additional sources of energy supply and/or energy demand reductions.”

To meet the requirements of G.S. 62-110.1 and G.S. 62-2(a)(3a), the Commission conducts an annual investigation into the electric utilities’ IRP. Commission Rule R8-60 requires that each of the electric utilities furnish the Commission with a biennial report in even-numbered years that contains the specific information set out in that Commission Rule. In odd-numbered years, each of the electric utilities must file an update report updating its most recently filed biennial report. Further, Commission Rule R8-67(b) requires any electric power supplier subject to Rule R8-60 to file a Renewable Energy and Energy Efficiency Portfolio Standard compliance plan (REPS compliance plan) as part of its IRP report.

2015 UPDATE REPORTS

2015 integrated resource plan update reports have been filed by Duke Energy Progress, LLC (DEP); Duke Energy Carolinas, LLC (DEC); and Virginia Electric and Power Company, d/b/a Dominion North Carolina Power (DNCP). In addition, 2015 REPS compliance plans were also filed by DEP, DEC and DNCP.
