Dear Chairman Finley: I am deeply concerned about the actions of the NC Utilities Commission and it's apparent capitulation to Duke Energy's every request. The conflict of interest displayed for the NCUC is staggering.

The NCUC must to a full and transparent review of the Anderson, SC natural gas plant before it is built. Given the way Duke Energy has been allowed by the NCUC to include costs from other parts of their service area in NC rates, this must be done. We NC ratepayers do not want to pay for Duke's follies elsewhere. We also do not want to pay for their mismanagement of coal ash and the spills in NC.

The NCUC is supposed to be protecting ratepayers against the power of a monopoly that the State of NC has chartered, supposedly with public regulation. As a citizen I demand that you perform your public protection function.

Dear Chairman Finley,

This is an opportunity for you to show the people of North Carolina that the Utility Commission protects their safety and cares about the costs of their electricity.

Dear Mr. Finley and Utilities Commission staff: I am horrified that the pollution corporation called Duke is asking to build a natural gas plant in SC. What the world and the US needs is more green energy development such as wind and solar farms, not increasing methane and water pollution.

We need leaders not greeders.--Margaret Peeples, Raleigh resident

I am not in support of fracking. Please review the full cost and necessity of proposed gas plant in SC. I'm certain you will find that the cost is just too high for the environment and health of the surrounding community members.

Sincerely,

It is inconceivable that North Carolinians would be required to subsidize a plant built in SC, especially since our utilities commission will not be part of the regulatory process. Please reconsider being part of this process. Thank you!

I hope you will objectively evaluate the necessity for the natural gas plant before it is built, beyond whether or not it will make money for Duke's management team and shareholders.

I am more concerned about climate change and environmental pollution than I am about building things at public expense that are not in the public interest so that the usual suspects can make more money.

Dear Mr. Ed Finley,

I am concerned about the proposed natural gas plant in Anderson, SC. I understand Duke Energy North Carolina ratepayers would pay 70% of the cost of plant if it were built. As I am not interested in contributing to a powerplant that may not be needed, I request that the N.C. Utilities Commission please be proactive and conduct a full and transparent review of the proposal to ensure that it is in the North Carolina consumer's best interest.

Thank you,

Alexis Seccombe

Dear Mr. Finley,

As you know, Duke Energy has plans to build a new natural gas plant in Anderson, SC. When the construction is finished Duke will ask your commission to approve a rate increase to pay for it. North Carolina ratepayers would be asked to pay 70% of the construction costs.

Please conduct a full and transparent review of the Anderson, SC natural gas plant before it is built. North Carolina citizens don't want to pay for power plants we don't even need.

Thank you.

Sincerely yours,
Betsey B. Granda
