Mr. Finley,

As an informed and environmentally aware resident I adamantly disapprove of the proposed gas plant in Asheville NC. It is both unneeded and environmentally irresponsible. Instead of continuing to pour resources into toxic and outdated methods of power generation, Duke should instead look to the future and invest in cleaner methods such as solar and wind. Please do not allow Duke Energy to build this plant.

Regards,

Sean Ross

Duke Power's application to place a fracking gas plant in Asheville must justify the need for this facility. According to NCWARN, Duke has failed to make a convincing or transparent case. This state has given monopoly status to this behemoth. Any action to insist on a better case being made, or the application withdrawn, would be appreciated. Lewise Busch

How could you trust Duke energy, cause of the biggest 'spill' in NC to ever be honest...to let Duke energy 'bypass' investigation is outrageous! Duke energy should only be allowed to operate if it agrees to total transparency for the next 50 years!

As an Asheville residence and North Carolina citizen, I am urging you to require a full and transparent examination of Duke Energy's Asheville project.

For the future of our grandchildren, I ask that you look towards solar and alternative energy generation, higher capacity transmission lines, energy savings, third-party energy sales, and other energy alternatives.

Please let go of your fears around that path. Nothing lasts forever.

I believe it is appropriate to look towards an energy future which is free of the pollution that comes through conventional techniques. Please help us start that now. Please consider the big picture view allowing pollution free industries to thrive in our world.

What is the best lifetime legacy you could possibly leave the world?

Sincerely,

Michael Whitmire

I am very concerned about global warming; the result of an increasingly high level of greenhouse gases. I am asking for a comprehensive, open and transparent examination of Duke Energy's project to expand gas-powered powerplants. Technical experts have concerns which Duke must address.

Thank you for taking care of this very important issue.
