Clerk's Office
N.C. Utilities Commission

As far as I'm concerned, the state's ban on power sales to the public by anyone but sanctioned utilities is an unconstitutional restraint of trade.

In the instant case, there's is no "public sale." There is only private financing of a private installation, which is not subject to the state ban.

As a general rule, public policy should support the proliferation of any and all varieties of renewable energy, as soon as possible.

If Duke Energy thinks they own the sun, they should go back to school. In any event, if we have to wait for them to provide renewables, we'll all be dead.

Instead of fines, NC WARN should get an award for meritorious service to the people of our state for their creative approaches to limiting stifling greenhouse gases.

Thank you for your consideration.
